Liesveld, (303) 465-3675.

the EAC activities as my father in law still is with us and he takes most of my time.

Please bring to our next meeting your ideas to discuss in our brain storming section.

I hope you all are creating new art; if you are not, don't miss the meeting on January the 29th when we will create new art for our display it in our shows.

I have been investigating on a grant from the Colorado Creative Industries District; while in the process, I had the opportunity to summarize the status we are in and even if we don't have many members, we are covering most bases, although the marketing aspect is the one we are lacking pretty badly. Lets bring your ideas to improve this aspect, because it is the most important to solve any other deficiencies that we have. Aura

President's Corner

Dear EAC members:

Since we are stronger lovers and protectors of our Mother Earth, let's keep finding new ways to lessen our trash by converting it into beautiful art or crafts. We know It is fun!

First of all I am wishing you a Happy New Year for you, your family and friends. That we all at EAC can develop the proper activities to be of a value to the solution of the problem we have with our disposables.

Our priority should be to concentrate in getting more members so that we can accomplish everything we want to do, and grow as we think we should.

I am sorry, but I can't spend as much time in

Next Activities

January 24: Delivery art at the Brunner House for a show from January 27 to February 28.

January 29th: Regular meeting.

Picture from demonstration on the November 27th 2013 Meeting.

The demonstrator was Lavonna O'Korn. She did

Xmas decorations. She used plastic bottles, cuts from wrapping paper, paper cups, q-tips, cuts from Xmas cards and decorations, fabric softener sheets, aluminum foil, bows tape, etc.

Next DemonstrationFebruary 26 2014

This year we are getting an earlier starting for Christmas. Phyllis Pettay will show us how to create beautiful birds flying. Bring your old colorful and any subject greeting cards, glue sticks, scissors and fishing line.

Classes:

We need volunteers to find places to teach classes. We already did it, were successful, were paid, and EAC got 10% of the profits, now we have to keep it up.
